10 Phone Workers Walk Out

Meeting Opens On Dispute

Operators Returning To Telephone Posts

Ten local telephone operators walked off the job at the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. office here at 7 p. m. last night in protest over the firing of a fellow employee.

A meeting of union and company officials was under way at noon today. Both union and company officials said that the operators would return to work as their regular tricks came up. Meanwhile discussions would continue, they said.

In the meeting are Richard Stearnes, division commercial manager of Marion, and Robert Arnett, president of Local 4373, Communications Workers of America.

The company's public relations department issued a statement on the incident. It said:

"The traffic department was engaged in a partial work stoppage. They have returned to work. Grievances are being reviewed in accordance with standard procedure. There was no service interruption."

IT WAS REPORTED that the 10 operators walked off the job at 7 p. m. last night because of the firing of Mrs. Delores O'Neil. Neither the union or company gave any indication as to the cause of the firing.

Although the company did not report it, it was assumed that supervisory personnel named the phones after the operators left their posts.

The walkout was not an official union strike, according to one union officer. However, the union now is involved in settling the dispute.

Long-Sought 'Traveler' Finally Caught

CLEVELAND (AP)—For 11 years Indiana State Police Lt. Edwin C. Schroeder sought an elusive check passer called "The Traveler," who cashed an estimated half million dollars worth of phony checks in 40 states.

At city jail here Thursday night, Lt. Schroeder confronted Charles R. Speedie, 51, of San Fernando, Calif., "The Traveler." Speedie was arrested Thursday afternoon in suburban Middleburg Heights. He was sought by police all over the country.

"I'm glad it's over," Schroeder commented. Speedie smiled but did not speak. The policeman carried a portfolio containing 30 pounds of evidence. He had kept a carefully documented account of Speedie's 11-year career, including photostats and facsimiles of the check passer's work.

"I don't know his face but I'd recognize his handwriting anywhere," Schroeder said. A policeman for 22 years and a handwriting expert, he had rounded up Speedie's handiwork as he crossed the country at least 30 times passing checks under 350 aliases.

Speedie has offered to plead guilty if all the states who wanted him would lump their charges together into one federal charge.

If they refused, he said, he would plead innocent and fight any attempts to extradite him.

Police said Ohio, where he passed between 75 and 100 bad checks, would have first call on prosecuting him. California would probably be next.

Logan High, Band Mothers Open Tigers' 1957 Season

Plenty of activity is scheduled tonight at the Circleville High School football field.

Coach Tom Bennett, making his first appearance as head CHS grid mentor, will field his 1957 squad for its first official showing of the young season. Bennett, a veteran line coach here for the last 11 seasons, succeeds Steve Brudzinski who resigned last year.

The Tigers, preparing for their season opener next Friday at Athens, will battle in a scrimmage session with the Chieftains of Logan High School. The always popular CHS Band also will make its first full-dress appearance between scrimmage periods.

According to CHS officials the schedule of events calls for a practice period between the Tiger and Logan reserves at 7 p. m., followed by the band preview. At about 8 p. m. the CHS varsity will move onto the field for two quarters of scrimmage with Logan's first team.

FOLLOWING the practice tilt fans will see the battle of the year when the Circleville Band Mothers stage a pigskin spectacular which promises some of the sharpest football this side of Ohio State University.

In a do-or-die struggle, the Round Town Squares will battle to the finish with the Dog Patch Dolls of Hooten Holler.

Coach "Benny" Price (Mrs.

James Price) has gone out on a weak limb to predict that her Squares will breeze by the Dolls by at least one touchdown. Playing it calm, cool and collected, Coach "Woody" Samuel had "no comment" on the chances of her Dolls. However, it is expected that she has a trick or two up her sleeve.

With the lineups just about set, Coach "Benny" probably will rely on the hard running of Wayback Thompson, Get Back Plum, and Draw Back Johnson. The Squares' forward wall will depend on the services of Weak-end Goldschmidt, Wrong End Clifton and center Swede Routzahn. Lastree Sort Barthelmas will be No. 1 replacement.

Ready to beat the air out of the ball (and the opponents) for the Dolls are Rough House Ridlon, Cyclone Adkins, Clickenees Greeno, Shorty Riskey, Hop Along Ehmling and Sad Sack Patrick. Slippery Barthelmas will be pulling at the reins along the sidelines waiting for a chance to get in the game.

Coach Bennett's Tigers wound up practice for the week last night under the lights at the CHS gridiron. Serving as a dress-rehearsal the Tigers appeared in sparkling new black jerseys with white numerals on the front and back and both shoulders. Wearing red pants, it marks the first time a Tiger squad has appeared in full solid colors of the school, red and black.

COACH Bennett seemed pleased last night with the progress his boys have made during the past two weeks, but was quick to add that several problems still exist, especially in the replacement department. "Our biggest difficulty at present is bench strength for guards and tackles," the coach said.

So far the guard spots have been dominated by the fiery play of Bob Barnhart, a transfer student from St. Charles, Columbus, and letterman Asa Eide. Tackle berths are in the capable hands of Terry Barthelmas, Bill Perkins and John Wright.

To date Jon Parcher and Larry Hannahs have won the nod for starting end positions. The flanker situation was bolstered this week when Bill Johnson, a letterman at that position last year, reported for practice after spending the summer in Indiana.

The backfield has been operating under veteran quarterback Mike Hosler, with Raymond Phifer and Walt Arledge running at left and right half respectively. According to the coaches, Dick Bircher, a newcomer to the varsity, has been coming along fast at fullback.

So far Coach Bennett's charges have been operating from a split-T, with the possibility that other variations will be utilized as the season goes along.

After tonight's practice test the Tigers will have only four days of practice remaining prior to the Athens opener. The home season opens September 20 with the Chillicothe Cavaliers.

Shrine's Purpose Told by Chieftain

CINCINNATI (AP)—Merry-making Shriners from five midwestern states and one Canadian province jammed Cincinnati today but the president of the Great Lakes Shrine Assn. said "our play group is only what the people see; men must have a purpose in life."

Charles A. Merrill of Detroit, the association president, declared that the "heart and soul" of the shrine organization is its maintenance of 17 hospitals for crippled children.

"Without some worthy cause, 85-year-old shrimedom would have died many years ago," he said.

Merrill, relating that the first hospital for crippled children was established in 1921 added that "285,000 children have passed through our doors to run again."

Ike Plans Trip To Washington

Talks Due on Mideast, Arkansas School Fuss

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP)—President Eisenhower will interrupt his New England vacation Saturday to return to Washington for conferences on the Arkansas school integration controversy and the Middle East Communist threat.

The President, scarcely unpacked after arrival from the capital Wednesday, plans to return to his Narragansett Bay resort center Saturday evening.

He and Mrs. Eisenhower, still convalescing from Aug. 6 surgery, on Coaster's Harbor Island.

Late Thursday press secretary James C. Hagerty said the President had decided to return to the White House Saturday to:

1. Confer with Atty. Gen. Brownell regarding the tense school integration situation in Little Rock.

Eisenhower himself hinted, meanwhile, the federal government might be thinking about trying to limit the activities of National Guardsmen posted by Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus at Little Rock's Central High School. The posting has halted racial integration ordered by a U. S. Court.

2. MEET WITH Secretary of State Dulles and State Department trouble shooter Loy Henderson for a briefing on a mounting crisis in Syria. Henderson returned this week from the Mideast where he developed "deep concern lest Syria should become a victim of international communism."

The State Department reported its concern as the government hinted it may invoke Eisenhower's Middle East policy of economic and military aid to deal with the Syrian crisis. A resolution approved by Congress last March authorizes such aid to any Mideast country which, threatened by communism, seeks U. S. help.

14 Nations To Compete in Plow Contest

PEEBLES (AP)—Delegates from 14 nations and a crowd of spectators expected to reach the tall thousands converge on this small Adams County town later this month for the Ohio, U. S. and world plowing contests.

The center of attention is a 2,500-acre section of land spanning 16 farms where preparations started three years ago for these events.

But the contests are only part of the reason for the attention here. News men Thursday got an early look at the site of the competition.

In addition to the plowing, officials have set up a series of soil conservation and farm exhibits, including machinery, designed to show modern agriculture methods.

In the competition, the Ohio State Plowing Championship is scheduled Sept. 17, the U. S. Nationals Sept. 18 and the world event Sept. 19-20.

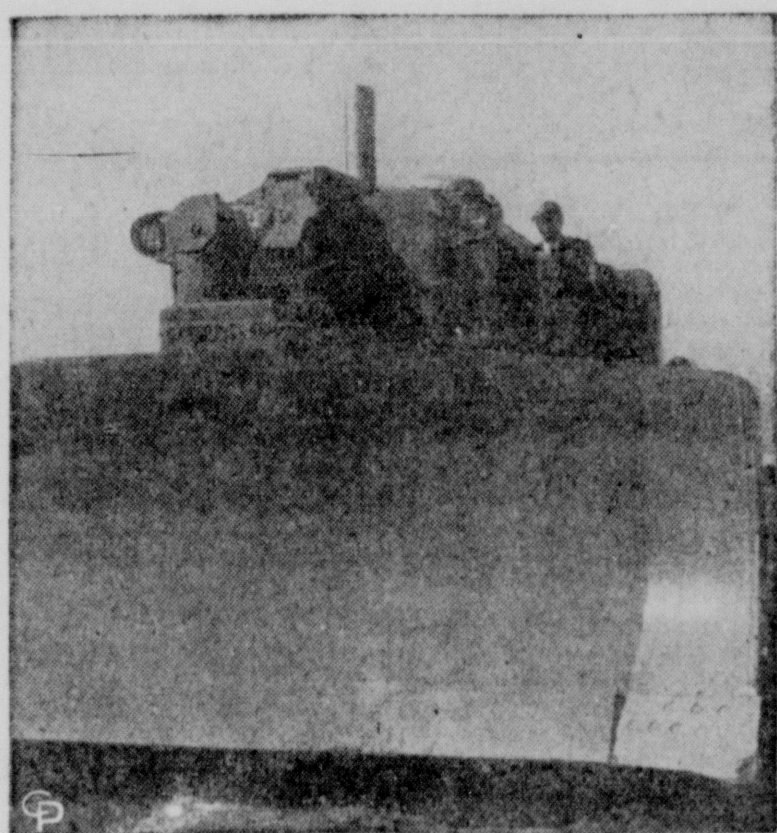

Two contestants from each of 14 nations won the right to compete here in eliminations in their own countries last year.

The entrants will use tractors in the competition. In the world event, officials allot one-half acre of wheat-stubble field and one-half acre of sod land to each team, which has three hours to complete the task. Then the judges take to the field for scoring.

The U. S. competition is divided into level-land and contour-plowing sections.

Coroner Quits Position

BELLEFONTAINE (AP)—Dr. Joseph G. Springer resigned as Logan County coroner Thursday because he said the post took more time from his private practice than he had anticipated.

BIG 'SHOVEL,' BIG PROJECT — Ohio's Gov. C. William O'Neill shuns the traditional shovel for a bulldozer during ground-breaking ceremonies near Wooster for the first section of the Cincinnati-to-Conneaut freeway.

'West' Schools OK Consolidation By County Board

Members of school boards west of the Scioto River gave the Pickaway County board of education a vote of confidence last night on the board's handling of school consolidation. The meeting of the local boards was held in the Jackson Twp. school.

In a unanimous vote, the members present indicated a preference for allowing further consolidation to be brought about by the county board.

Under state law, county boards have power to create new school districts only until January 1, 1958. After that date, power to order consolidation passes to the state board of education.

The local board members agreed to form a committee, advisory in nature, to work with the county board in further school reorganization. The committee will be made up of one member from each local board west of the river.

Local township boards of Scioto, Monroe, Muhlenberg, Jackson, Perry, Deercreek, and Wayne were represented at the meeting. Judge William D. Radcliff, chairman of the county educational advisory council, presided. County board members Homer Reber and Neil Morris were present at the meeting.

Yanks, China Premier Chat

Chou Is Reported In High Good Humor

LONDON (AP)—Premier Chou En-lai of Red China tonight clinked glasses with 41 young Americans at a reception in Peiping.

Reuters, the British news agency, reported from the Chinese capital that the Americans swarmed around Chou getting autographs, taking photos and asking questions.

Chou, who was in great good humor, posed for photos with many delegates from several countries. The Americans said he promised to grant the delegation a formal interview to be filmed Saturday afternoon.

The Americans will have a busy day, for in the morning 10 are to visit two American prisoners held in Peiping jail.

Asked by one of the Americans about the possibility of U. S. reporters coming to China, Marshal Ho Lung, a vice premier, replied: "I am not sure it is a matter concerning the government."

SOME AMERICANS tried to get the same question across to Chou, but in the press of people it was not easy.

However, when one American said: "We hope to be the first of many thousands of Americans to follow," Chou replied:

"Our gates are always open, but it must be on an equal basis."

Steve Tyler, a young writer from New York, asked Ho: "Can Taiwan (Formosa) be regained by peaceful means?" and had the answer: "If the United States will evacuate its troops."

Tyler then asked: "If China cannot gain Taiwan by peaceful means, would you use force?" The marshal, who was one of the founders of the Red Chinese army, replied: "We will see. There are many ways and means."

Asked by Richard Lane of Los Angeles about China's attitude toward the U. N., Ho replied: "The United Nations is under the manipulation of the United States."

Lane said: "If that is so, why join?" To which Ho replied with a gesture: "The United Nations means nothing to us."

Miss America Pageant Near Final Stages

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—The third and final group of beauties vying for the title of Miss America 1958 take part in preliminary competition tonight preparatory to the selection of 10 girls as semi-finalists in the pageant.

The new Miss America will be selected from a list of five finalists and will be crowned by the reigning queen, Marian Ann McKnight of Manning, S. C., about midnight Saturday.

The 51 girls entered in the pageant have been split into three groups of 17 each for judging in the talent, swim suit and evening gown categories.

Talent and swim suit winners in the second preliminary competition Thursday night were Miss Indiana and Miss Georgia.

Gloria Ruth Rupprecht, 19-year-old sophomore at Valparaiso, Ind., University, won the talent competition with her impression of a singer making her debut.

The daughter of the Rev. Martin W. Rupprecht, pastor of Grace Lutheran Church in St. Petersburg, Fla., she was Miss St. Petersburg last year and a runner-up in the Miss Florida contest. Miss Rupprecht sings in the church choir and teaches Sunday school.

Miss Ohio, Linda Kay Hattman of Mansfield, chose the dance as her talent in that phase of the judging.

Jody Elizabeth Shattuck, the swim suit winner, is a 20-year-old blonde from Atlanta, Ga. She wore a white satin swim suit, measures 37-24-38 and is 5 feet 9.

Troops Detain White Youths

6 Minnesotans Say They're Vacationing

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Watchful National Guardsmen blocking racial integration at Central High School took six university students from Minneapolis into custody this morning and released them a short time later.

State Police Capt. Alan Templeton said all were ordered released. Other state troopers who escorted the youths from the school quoted the six as saying they would continue their vacation trip to New Orleans.

One youth, identified by Guardsmen as Murray Gallinson, about 20, carried a sheath knife four to five inches long. Col. Marion Johnson of the Guard said.

The other five were identified as Marion Segal, Robert Milavetz, Mike Goldman, Steve Lange and Harris Levine.

A dozen newsmen tried unsuccessfully to question Gallinson as two Guardsmen took him rapidly down the street.

THE REPORTERS heard Gallinson describe the knife as a "souvenir" and tell the Guardsmen he was on a "sightseeing tour."

Gallinson, who had a camera slung around his neck, was mistaken for a news photographer for a time.

Heavily armed Guardsmen still ringed the high school today, but a smaller crowd of demonstrators appeared across the street from the campus.

The future of the smoldering integration crisis appeared to be in the hands of a federal judge who will hear a school board plea for a truce.

A momentary lull developed Thursday in the battle over racial mixing. The Little Rock School Board offered the possibility of a temporary solution by asking federal Judge Ronald N. Davies to follow an indefinite legal postponement of integration.

Early today, a cross was burned outside the home of Mayor Woodrow Mann, who has criticized the mobilization of state troops. Police here said they had no record of any such incident although a source close to Mann verified the story.

Judge Davies will hear the school board's petition at 10 a. m. Saturday. Twice within the last week Davies has ordered racial mixing to proceed immediately.

There are only nine Negro students eligible to enter the all-white 2000-pupil school.

GOV. ORVAL Faubus, who ordered out the troops last Tuesday to keep nine Negro students from entering the high school, Thursday got President Eisenhower's answer to an appeal for intervention in the clash of federal and state authority.

Eisenhower told Faubus that he would use all legal means at his command to uphold the federal Constitution.

The President will interrupt his vacation at Newport, R. I., to return to Washington Saturday for a conference with Atty. Gen. Brownell on the issue.

The governor wired Eisenhower Wednesday that he had information that federal agents in Little Rock had discussed the possibility of taking him into custody, and said he suspected federal men of tapping his telephone lines.

Faubus asked the President for cooperation in trying to settle the crisis peacefully.

Eisenhower, in his reply to Faubus, said "there is no basis of fact to the statements you make in your telegram that federal authorities have been considering taking you into custody or that telephone lines to your executive mansion have been tapped by any agency of the federal government."

The president did not detail what steps, if any, he might have in mind to bring about compliance with court desegregation orders.

BUT HE DID tell Faubus: "You and other state officials—as well as the National Guard which, of course is uniformed, armed and partially sustained by the government—will, I am sure, give full cooperation to the United States District Court."

That not only in effect told the governor to let integration proceed, it hinted he might restrict National Guard action.

Solon Urges U. S. Hold Talks with Arabia, Egypt

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) today urged the Eisenhower administration to consider an immediate conference with Saudi Arabia and Egypt to study ways to preserve Arab nationalism from further Soviet aggression.

Mansfield, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, coupled this proposal with a suggestion that the United States ask the United Nations General Assembly to set up international controls over arms shipments to the Middle East. The Assembly is to meet next week.

The senator advanced his proposals as the United States pushed arrangements to speed defensive weapons to four nations bordering pro-Soviet Syria.

Officials said the decision to speed up deliveries of previously promised arms to Jordan, Lebanon, Turkey and Iraq was made in part to symbolize American determination to support those nations against any aggression, subversion or other pressures from Syria.

The governments of Lebanon and Jordan, both strongly pro-Western, were described here as feeling themselves under heavy political pressures because of the Syrian crisis.

IN THE CASE of Jordan, an airlift will begin operating, perhaps next week, to deliver mobile weapons such as light artillery and machineguns.

Disclosure of the decision to hasten weapons deliveries to the four nations came as the State Department announced that Secretary Dulles will make a personal report on the Syrian situation to President Eisenhower.

Eisenhower will fly back to Washington Saturday from Newport, R. I., where he began a vacation only a few days ago. The President will return to Newport after conferring with Dulles and other administration officials.

The statement announcing the Eisenhower-Dulles conference said Dulles had received a firsthand report from Loy W. Henderson, deputy under secretary of state, who returned Wednesday from a two-week flying visit to the Middle East. Henderson has conferred with leaders of Turkey, Iraq, Jordan and Lebanon.

Henderson, the statement said, "found deep concern lest Syria should become a victim of international communism and as such become a base for further threatening the independence and integrity of the region."

Mansfield said the speedup in delivery of U.S. arms to Jordan, Lebanon, Turkey and Iraq, may hold back aggression by Syria "and perhaps allow dissident elements in that country to re-establish order on a reasonable basis."

The senator, assistant Democratic floor leader, also said:

"IN ADDITION to what is contemplated, it might be well for the United States to weigh the possibility of a conference with King Saud of Saudi Arabia and President Nasser of Egypt to consider

Commissioners Request Lower Speed Limit through Whisler

A resolution was passed this week by the Pickaway County Board of Commissioners requesting the State Director of Highways to reduce the speed limit on the Hayesville-Adelphi Road through Whisler from 60 to 25 miles per hour.

Report of a traffic and engineering survey conducted by County Engineer, Henry McCrady, was forwarded to the State Director to support the request for speed limit change.

The commissioners said that the present 60 mile-per-hour limit was "unrealistic." Several residents in the Whisler area have appealed to the commissioners for a speed limit reduction.

In other action this week, the commissioners approved a $75,000 surety bond of County Treasurer, Robert Colville. A transfer of $45 was made from the "other health" fund to the "clerk of courts" fund.

Charles W. Vaughn, 20, a sailor from Youngstown, Ohio, and Calvin W. Brown, 19, airman apprentice from Orangeville, Pa., testified they were ordered to slug each other in the stomach with their fists and the loser had to clean up after the brig mascot, a dog. Brown said he lost.

Commander Raps Girard's Actions

MAEBASHI, Japan (AP)—William S. Girard had no authorization to fire at anyone the day he is accused of fatally shooting a woman metal scavenger, his commanding officer said today.

The deposition from Lt. Billy Mohon of Comyn, Tex., read in a Japanese court, said Girard and another soldier were ordered to keep everyone away from a machinegun on a firing range near Maebashi.

Asked if he had given order to keep scrap metal collectors away by firing rifles, Mohon answered: "Definitely not."

Other statements read by the Japanese prosecutor quoted scrap metal collectors as saying they frequently were chased away from firing ranges by American soldiers firing empty cartridge casings.

"I was chased away very often," said a statement by Noboru Matsuzawa. "Sometimes they fired, using blank ammunition. Sometimes they used empty cartridge cases, aiming at our feet to scare us."

"Mary Hawthorth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Why are plain women so scary? Is it an act? When they are walking along a street at night—even a well lighted, well traveled street—they act so terrified if a man approaches within 20 paces of them.

Their more fortunate sisters don't seem to be afraid of males. The good looking dames act as if they are used to having males nearby.

I've noticed the same thing in church. Enter a pew behind a homely woman and invariably she will turn around as if expecting to be knocked on the head. It must be an act in those circumstances; I've never heard of anyone's being hit on the head in a crowded church.

But my main problem is my sister-in-law. She has been living with my wife and me for 10 years, and she still jumps every time I enter a room where she may be reading or watching TV.

You might think that long before 10 years had elapsed, she would have got used to my living in the same house with my wife—but such is not the case, it seems.

Frankly I think it's an act, and have been on the verge, several times, of telling her so. But my wife won't hear of it. I mustn't offend my sister-in-law, although I'm supposed to put up with her making like I am Dracula.

Honestly, it's getting to the point where I even hesitate to enter my own house, lest I scare the daylights out of my sister-in-law. If she should die of fright some day, on looking up from her book (or whatever) and seeing me enter a room, am I to feel guilty?

I am convinced that she and other scary women are putting on an act. What do you say?

W. C.
DEAR W. C.: Why are plain women so scary? Well, maybe the jumpy kind of plain woman you deplore—on the street, in church, at home, etc.—is a lonely soul.

The habitually lonely person tends automatically to become immersed in self-concern—because inwardly isolated from the security of close protective alliances. His emotions turn back upon himself because he lacks a partner, pal or spouse, with whom to exchange intimate thoughts and feelings on a reciprocity basis. This type of emotional short circuit tends to build up hair-trigger tension in the nervous system—hence the jumpy reaction to "outsider" approaches.

I don't think it's an act. I think it is the frightened reflex of a person who feels alone in the world (even if surrounded by decent folks). The aloneness feeling stems from a sense that you aren't vital; important to anybody—that nobody really cares who happens to you. This is perhaps the most "threatening" sensation that humans ever know, in the ordinary routine of life.

Probably that's how your sister-in-law feels in your house. Deep in her mind, she probably labels herself an intruder in your domestic privacy—though loyally harbored by her sister (maybe for a boarder's fee), and heroically put-up-with by you.

Thus when you enter a room, to find her reading or watching TV, she probably twinges with guilty anxiety. She feels defensive about being there—"in your way," taking her ease where she isn't really wanted. No doubt she feels the telepathic repercussions of your impatience with a setup that includes her—also, perhaps, your caustic indifference to the plain woman, such as she is.

As for women afoot on the street at night—even well lighted, well traveled streets—I think they're smart to keep a wary eye out, and James ought to do that. It's not a matter of nerves or of cowardice; it's just plain common sense, in this era of violence warped by a series of wars.

Columbus Judge's Life Threatened

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An anonymous telephone caller threatened the life of Common Pleas Judge Dana F. Reynolds Thursday.

The judge treated the matter lightly and declined an offer of sheriff's deputies to protect him. But Sheriff Stacy Hall said his men would investigate.

Judge Reynolds reported he was awakened about 2:30 a.m. by a telephone ring, and a gruff male voice said, "I'm going to kill you." The man then hung up.

The judge said he has no idea who might be threatening him, or why. He said he faces no particularly controversial case in his current tenure in criminal court.

Tin Plate Price Steady

PITTSBURGH (AP)—S. Steel Corp. said Thursday its current price on electrolytic tin plate and associated items will remain unchanged through Dec. 31.

"SEPTEMBER MORN," the most controversial painting in the history of the United States, goes on view to the public at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York. The painting by Paul Chabas became a controversial work of art when Anthony Comstock, head of the New York Society for the Suppression of Vice, denounced it and ordered it removed from the window of the store where it was displayed. That was 45 years ago. It was presented to the museum recently through generosity of an anonymous donor. (International)

Safe, Efficient Clothing For Handicapped Studied

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Safe and efficient clothing for homemakers partially handicapped by age or chronic ailments is the latest project being started by government home economists to help make things easier for the nation's handicapped housekeepers.

The Institute of Home Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, has already done much through home management plans and its famous energy-saving kitchen to aid these women, many of whom are in wheel chairs or rely on crutches and canes.

Clarice Scott, clothing specialist at the institute's Beltsville, Md., research center, who initiated the project, says clothing specially designed for this kind of homemaker is one of the most important factors in lightening her handicap.

Miss Scott is interviewing some 75 women, going right to their homes through the cooperation of local agencies, in an effort to determine their needs. Getting them to talk informally of their likes, their dislikes and why, and what they wish they could have, she hopes to develop designs for clothing that will adequately meet their special requirements.

"This effort," says Miss Scott, "is a little drop in the bucket. We hope that the designs we develop will be useful and will encourage an interest in others, especially in research laboratories and industry, to carry on on a larger scale."

So far, Miss Scott says, "I haven't interviewed one person who hasn't contributed something to help us in our designing plans. Once we work out a design we also must consider material and workmanship. We must have all visited Mrs. Towler's mother in Ashland, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Stewart of Columbus were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Furness.

Mr. and Mrs. William Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Turney Sheets and son Max attended the Indiana State Fair at Indianapolis one day this week.

Mr. Howard Anderson of Mansfield and Mrs. Alma Goldsberry of Johnstown were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Anderson and family. Additional Sunday guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Long and family.

these factors pull together for clothing to be wearable, functional and attractive as well."

Miss Scott, who has been with the institute for 29 years, has helped it pioneer in many notable clothing developments, such as self-help clothing for children, including the first sun-suit and the first one-piece snow suit, and the use of shower-resistant cottons in snow suits and raincoats. She also made a study of housedresses and aprons for homemakers and pioneered in women's outdoor work clothing.

Abel Hottest Red Spy Break

Capture of communist spy master Col. Rudolph Ivanovich Abel appears to have more significance than the uncovering of a single spy in the red network.

Spies have been caught every once in a while in the past decade. But Abel, who had operated in Brooklyn posing as a professional photographer, was more than that—he was a professionally trained spy-master.

He directed other spies and handled the mechanics of espionage. Through cutouts (trusted couriers) who may know nothing except the code names of persons they meet) the spy master keeps in touch with headquarters, sends out instructions, pays agents and collects information. Abel had thousands of dollars cached in this country, some of which has been located.

Because Abel is no frightened turncoat, it is doubtful that he will spill much information to federal authorities. But the Russians will not be able to take any chances.

Best guess is that they will "freeze" their spy network as they did after Elizabeth Bentley made her revelations in 1945 about Russian espionage in this country. Spy rings were disbanded, contacts broken and agents sent into hiding. It wasn't long, of course, until the Russians began building a new network.

But the important point is that this will take time. And time is something the Russians cannot afford at this critical stage in the cold war.

That is why the arrest of Colonel Abel is being hailed as the biggest espionage break for the United States in the past decade.

Right Fiasco Lost Syria

In a most serious turn of events, a communist has been installed as chief of staff of the army of Syria, after a purge of 10 high ranking officers. The army purge virtually amounts to a communist coup d'etat.

Syria gained independence from France in 1945, largely through the efforts of a loose coalition known as the National Bloc. In 1949 there came a coup by a group of army officers. In the next five years there were three more army coups. After two years of rule by el-Kuwatly of the National Bloc, the army has again taken over power, but this time there's an important difference. Previous army revolts were led by right-wing officers.

The present one comes from leftist groups in the army, who look to Russia to help them consolidate their power.

Thus from a series of fiascos and of missed opportunities by rightist groups, the communists are fashioning a takeover of power which threatens the West's position in that part of the world.

Most Used Song Word: Love

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—The chances are that, if asked to name the tune played most often in public in the last 10 years, you'd name a love song, but the wrong one. The right answer is the national love song—"The Star Spangled Banner."

"It is played at least 225,000 times a month on radio and TV stations alone," said Israel Diamond, a slender, bald 40-year-old accountant who is one of America's leading song statisticians.

Diamond is the logging director of Broadcast Music, Inc. His job is to find out how often each of the 150,000-plus B.M.I. songs are played so that the composers or publishers who own the copyright can be paid.

This task, little understood by the public, is vitally important to the "June and moon" rhymers, a large chunk of whose income comes from the nation's radio and TV stations.

The work falls into two parts. A composer gets three cents from each station every time his tune is played over a TV or radio network. This is easy to figure out as the networks keep a complete list of every tune played. Thus if you've written a tune entitled "It's Hard to Stay Straight When You Love a Wobly-Hearted Girl," and a 150-station network plays it only once (which would seem enough for that title) you'd get $4.50.

The difficulty lies in checking the country's 3,000 radio stations when they play music on non-network or local programs. A tune played once on a local program nets the composer two cents.

Since it would be uneconomical to check them all, each month a scientific sampling is made of 100 stations. Each lists all tunes it played in that period.

Diamond and a staff of 50 logging editors then go over the lists and pick out the B.M.I. tunes. Coded cards for the tunes are then put into data machines which electronically add and multiply the figures from the scientific sample to reckon the final payment.

One of the staff's small chores was to figure out a code name for the song, "You Two-Timed Me Once Too Often." They finally came up with this result: "U-2-X-Me-1-X-2-Often."

The log editors develop fabulous memories for song titles. "I guess I can remember 35, 000 to 40,000 songs offhand," said Ed Lecomte, 52, a former Broadway actor who has been a tune logger for eight years. "But no one in a lifetime could learn them all. There are millions of songs."

"No, I've never written one myself. I'm not very good at music, and anyway, trying to find a new title would seem even harder to me."

He has learned some odd lore about songs. Such as that the B.M.I. files list some 450 songs that start "I love—," but only 36 that begin "I hate—." One of the later, probably written by a Danyankee, is, "I hate you, Mississippi."

"Although 'love' is by far the word used most often in songs," remarked Lecomte, "religious interest also is showing up more and more in song titles. We have about 500 that start with 'Jesus.'"

After charting the performance of innumerable tunes, Diamond wryly admitted he sometimes is thinking of turning out a little ditty himself.

The title: "I'm loaded with lovers—what I need is a friend."

Newport Has Oil Headache

By George Sokolsky

I recall going to Newport, Rhode Island, many years ago to visit Richard Washburn Child who was heading a group to rehabilitate this extraordinarily beautiful city which was suffering from the Depression and from the death of many millionaires, their heirs apparently then not having the money to keep the magnificent estates going.

As a device, Newport instituted the Jazz Festival which attracted a crowd whose money is as good as anybody else's. But now Newport is to get a major gasoline installation and those who are not worried about their homes being covered by oil and soot are concerned lest they get a smog such as Los Angeles, once a health resort, now endures. The Navy has one of its principal bases at Newport and those who live there fear that the oil installation will imperil the city and the naval base.

An Advisory Commission of the Rhode Island Development Council, appointed by the governor reported to him last May on the advantages and disadvantages of the oil project, the principal advantage being that it would add a new and diversified industry to Rhode Island, employing 250 local people, and many more during the construction period.

The objections were numerous: "Detraction from scenic beauty of Narragansett Bay; water pollution and effect of high temperature of discharged water used for cooling purposes; air pollution; effect on recreation and marine life; lowering of fresh water table on mainland; constant stack flare from burning gases; possible adverse effect on Naval installations and activities in the area and danger of the refinery's location causing the Navy not to expand the present facilities which it might otherwise do."

The Commission reported that the Navy employs over 10,000 civilians in the lower Narragansett Bay area and that the Navy would be discouraged from "possible expansion of the civilian force of the Navy in the future. There is also to be considered the loss of business which would result from any lessening of the number of Navy ships visiting Rhode Island waters and the number of personnel coming ashore. Due to intensive Naval flying activity in the vicinity of the refinery there is always the possibility of an accident which could be serious. The Navy has made it very plain to us that the existence of a refinery at Jamestown would be incompatible with Naval operations in lower Narragansett Bay."

The Advisory Commission reported that the disadvantages outweigh the possible advantages of the scheme and that they oppose it. So far as has been made public, the oil installation is not a defense project but a private enterprise whose principal beneficiary is Gulf Oil. The refinery is being projected by the Commerce Oil Refining Corporation, a Delaware corporation, organized apparently for this purpose in 1955 by Harold M. Geller of Great Neck, Long Island, a lawyer, and Harry R. Lewis, neither of whom has any history in the oil refining industry.

The Jamestown Protective Assn., which is opposing the project, in its communication to the Advisory Commission said:

"The cost of the entire enterprise is to be paid for with borrowed capital... the source of the capital, and the plans to obtain it, can't be disclosed. It is said that Lehman Brothers of New York have evolved the plans to create the capital. This is all we are told. Perhaps, it is foreign capital. Who knows? But you can be certain that the source of the capital will, in a very large measure, if not entirely, direct and control the operation of this project. You could not expect it to be otherwise. Certainly, $45,000,000.00 is not going to be delivered to Commerce Oil Refining Corporation without security."

Incidentally, the Jamestown Protective Assn. has been made defendant in a suit instituted by the Commerce Oil Refining Corporation, in which they are charged with a conspiracy to restrain interstate commerce. The association defends itself that "as free men under free governments, they (the Association) have a right to hold, express, and advocate their opinions, and have a right to organize and combine peaceably with other persons for the purpose of promoting their opinions more effectively. This they have done; this they are doing; and this they will continue to do."

Geller said, in an address: "Resistance comes from organized minorities who have no needs for the jobs or economic stimulus, and, in fact, thrive better in a financially depressed atmosphere."

BABCOCK PHONED his boss from the Adirondacks to say, "You'll have to give me an extra three days of vacation. We're a party of twenty-five here, and if I leave now, it'll spoil the fun for all the others."

"Nonsense," growled the boss. "How will your leaving spoil things for all the rest?"

"You don't seem to understand," mourned Babcock. "The other twenty-four are girls!"

Three sophisticated young ladies, all approximately eight years old and veteran TV fans, were discussing what they hoped to be when they grew up. The first one wanted to be a movie queen and play opposite Marlon Brando. The second wanted to be a nurse who discovers marvelous new serums. The third was most emphatic of all. "I," she announced, "want to be a widow."

"You could tell when summer was really here," notes Irv Kupcinet, "by all the stuffed shorts."

Losing Sleep? Check Bed

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Does your bed sag? Is the mattress lumpy? Is the pillow too hard?

Any or all of these faults might mean a regular and continuing siege of sleepless nights.

Too often, I'm afraid, you're apt to blame inability to sleep on mental stress or some obscure disease when the real trouble is simply poor sleeping conditions.

The most important thing for a good night's rest is a good bed that has a well-constructed mattress. Check yours. It should be long enough for you to lie in when stretched to your full length. The springs should permit your body to remain generally in a straight line. Coil springs probably are best since the individual springs can give way most beneath the shoulders and hips. Next best is the link spring. This is made of jointed wire links which are fastened to strong springs at the foot and the head of the bed.

Beds with fabric or woven wire springs tend to sag in a hammock-like effect. Your mattress should be moderately soft. It should not be lumpy or have hollow spots. If it is stuffed with horsehair, it should be renovated every few years.

Those of you with spine or sacroiliac ailments might need a firmer mattress and spring arrangement. It's up to your own doctor, of course, to decide what is best for you in such cases.

In inner-spring mattresses, the spring coils form open cells. This gives these mattresses some ventilation which is fine during the summer, but might be a bit chilly during the winter. Placing a blanket between the mattress and the lower sheet will keep you warmer. Blankets should be warm, yet light in weight. Best type probably are blankets of wool of a loose, fluffy texture. Not only is this type fairly light, it also retains body heat. Electric blankets generally are okay.

Fluff your pillow before going to bed. It should not be too thick, though, since it's best for your head to remain in a straight line with your spine when you lie on your side.

While it might not be practical at this time to change mattresses and bedsprings just because I say so, keep these suggestions in mind the next time you're in the market for these items. And for better sleep it would be well for all of us to have our mattresses checked at regular intervals.

You might be surprised how comfortable you can be.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—After more than four years of President Eisenhower's news conferences, a reporter can pretty well tell what's coming much of the time. These news conferences are never fiery. They're seldom exciting.

Eisenhower knows far more about government than he did when he started. He comes to his conferences better prepared. His sentence structure is better, although it still wobbles.

He still sprinkles each conference with clichés and homilies.

Eisenhower has one rigid rule, never to say anything critical about another individual. This has saved him from personal feuds while preserving the dignity of the presidency.

For some kinds of questions he figuratively carries a syringe full of oil to squirt on troubled waters. Ask him about a serious situation in school integration and his answers are practically standard.

Eisenhower never has said he approves the Supreme Court's ban on public school segregation. But he says repeatedly he will uphold the Constitution.

Integration, he says, is a problem involving emotions on both sides. But he expresses confidence things will work out.

As he said this week: "We are going to whip this thing in the long run by Americans being true to themselves and not merely by law."

Eisenhower takes a very firm stand on Russia but avoids criticizing the Russian leaders personally. He criticizes them collectively. In this way, apparently, he feels he leaves the door open for an opponent to retreat, as he once said in another case.

Inflation? He recognizes that inflation is a very serious problem. In fact, he said this week it is "our major internal problem."

Although living costs are going up, Eisenhower is against direct government controls but says "that is not to say the government does not attempt to marshal all of its influence and authority to keep unnecessary price rises from occurring."

Saying anything critical about his own Republicans is practically taboo. But the Democrats in fairness must admit that he never says anything very harsh about them except during an election campaign.

Eisenhower didn't have to be a mind-reader to know, before he entered his news conference this week, that he'd be asked what he thought of the record of Congress which quit work last week. He was asked. He was prepared.

He whipped out a list of the things he had asked Congress to do. He said he was pleased with the result on a few major items. Then he ticked off one proposal after another which he had made, but which Congress killed or ignored.

Eisenhower didn't mention what happened to one of his biggest proposals: federal aid to education. House Republicans dragged that one up an alley and killed it, with the help of Southern Democrats.

Eisenhower didn't give the bill much help, either.

White House press Secretary James C. Hagerty was asked after the news conference why Eisenhower didn't list the school construction bill among those on which Congress did not act. Hagerty replied the measures the President spoke of were simply examples and that the school aid bill was not the only one on his list that went unmentioned.

VICKI DUGGAN, Hollywood actress who has become known for the extreme low-cut back of her dresses, encountered a problem while on a safari into the jungles of Mazatlan, Mexico—mosquitoes. And here's the answer. Vicki wears a special number with built-in netting, which still leaves her back bare to the breezes. (International)

Brisk Sales Of Soft Goods Buoy Economy

September Movement
Of Durable Goods
Being Eyed by Experts

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Brisk retail selling of soft goods buoys the economy today while all hands wait to see what the critical month of September has in store for the durable goods manufacturers.

The trends will show up first in the weekly banking statements on how much business is borrowing, how much individuals and corporations are depositing, how much they are withdrawing to spend. Trends will also show in the weekly store sales figures, in steel production estimates and in wholesale price lists.

The first reports this month contradict each other a bit. Banks report that the public didn't withdraw as much spending money for the long Labor Day weekend as expected. And banks that had borrowed from the federal reserve system to meet the expected rush for cash found themselves with a lot of this—on which they pay interest—on their hands.

First retail sales reports, on the other hand, look good. Helped by brisk back-to-school buying to outfit a bumper crop of fledgling scholars, store sales in many cities rose above a year ago. The public is still parting with its money at the stores for things choosy about the things it can put off buying for awhile. And the amount it spends for services goes right on rising. Higher prices on goods and higher rates and fees for services account for a sizable amount of the gain.

That part of the retail business that handles the big ticket items is less happy and more nervous. Stocks of this year's model cars are higher than at this time last year. September is likely to see quite a scramble among dealers to move them out before the new models move in come October and November.

Layoffs here and there in the home appliance manufacturing field speak of sticky sales at the consumer level.

Yet consumers continue to add to the total installment debt, according to the Federal Reserve Board. Its latest figures are for July and show the debt rising more that month than it did in July 1956, and the total this summer to be 2½ billion dollars higher than last. This form of debt usually finances cars and the big ticket appliances.

Medic Says Big Thing Wrong With Women Is 'Marriage'

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

What is wrong with women?

Well, says Dr. John A. Schindler, co-founder of the famous Monroe Clinic at Monroe, Wis., and author of the best-selling book, "How to Live 365 Days a Year," the principal thing wrong with women is marriage.

Dr. Schindler has just written a new book, "Woman's Guide to Better Living," in which he says that the bulk of medical practice in the United States is concerned with emotionally induced illness (E.I.I.). Three out of four of these emotionally upset patients in every doctor's office, he says, are women. Moreover, most of them are married women.

Now the good doctor doesn't suggest that we should become a nation of spinsters and bachelors, but he, being of an inquiring turn of mind, began probing for the answer to a highly important question—why do so many married women blow their tops?

The reason, he now states, is that wives and mothers have been handed the greatest and most difficult of all possible jobs—that of managing a marriage and raising a successful family. This, says he, is a job that requires the highest abilities, talents and training—and many women just aren't equal to the job.

Physically, says the doctor, women are much tougher than men. Mentally they're on a par with men, also. It's just in the emotional department that they are likely to crack up.

His advice to women is—grow

Esson was charged with robbery because the penalty can be more severe than Missouri's kidnapping law.

Beta Sigma Phi Has Oratory, Speech Program

Plan Pledge Party
For Sept. 19

The first business and cultural program of Kappa Alpha Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority was held, Thursday evening, at 8 p. m. in the meeting rooms in the Masonic Temple.

Mrs. Olen Black, president, discussed plans for the forthcoming pledge season with the members. Final arrangements for a pledge party for Sept. 19 are being made by Mrs. Leroy Slusser, membership committee chairman, and Mrs. Miles Reefer, social committee chairman, and their respective committees.

During the business meeting Mrs. Fred Borries was nominated and elected corresponding secretary to succeed Miss Emma Tennant. Mrs. Howard Snook was appointed chairman of the Ways and Means committee and Mrs. George Hamrick, was selected as chairman of the program committee.

The new program books for the current year were passed out to the members as well as the new cultural books for this year's study groups. The course of study for the year is entitled "Paths to Loveliness."

A brief resume of the sorority's history, purpose, scope and goal was given by Miss Tennant.

The cultural program for the evening was presented by Mrs. Grover Dresbach, Miss Amy Miga and Mrs. William Sprout. The topic for their program was "Oratory and Speech." "Be yourself," was the advice given by the committee. When making a speech to any audience, consideration of that audience should be utmost in the mind of the speaker.

Intensive preparation is a prerequisite to a successful speech. Extensive use of the easily accessible facilities in our public libraries, magazines, newspapers was urged as well as audio-visual aids. Some of the great orators of the past were discussed with particular emphasis on Demosthenes.

As the story goes, he overcame a weak and handicapped speaking voice by practicing with pebbles in his mouth. As a demonstration of the method that was used by Demosthenes, the committee gave each member a handful of hard lemon drops to represent the pebbles and then each member in turn was asked to read aloud some part of the "Gettysburg Address." The result was amusing and enlightening.

Members present for the meeting were the following: Mrs. Charles Ried, Mrs. Carl Thompson, Mrs. Richard Robbins, Miss Mary McLaughlin, Mrs. Walter Fisher, Mrs. Robert Russell, Mrs. Lloyd Cox, Mrs. Reber Bell, Mrs. Leora Sayre, Director; Mrs. Black, Miss Tennant, Mrs. Sprout, Mrs. Dresbach, Miss Miga, Mrs. Borries, Mrs. Slusser, Mrs. Hamrick, and Mrs. Snook.

you'll achieve a desirable crunchy

Cream a little bottled horseradish with butter and use for those cold roast-beef sandwiches.

Porch snack: gingerbread waffles with vanilla ice cream or whipped cream. If you want to go all-out, you can also offer butter-scotch or chocolate sauce; both of these flavors go well with the gingerbread.

A half-cup of leftover cooked green peas makes a fine addition for creamed chipped beef.

Clubs was the moderator for a panel on Federation at the September meeting of Circleville Junior Woman's Club held on Thursday evening in the home of Mrs.
Paul Jackson.

Other participants in the discussion were Mrs. Richard Moore,
Mrs. William Speakman and Mrs.
Sterling Poling.

The panel members outlined in detail the structure, history and projects of both the Ohio Federation and the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Members of the panel pointed out that Ohio Federation is made up of 80,000 members of which 28,000 are per capita members and that General Federation has 11, 000,000 members.

These figures were used by the panel in illustrating how much can be accomplished by so many women working together, accomplishments that one club or group working alone would never ever dream of attempting.

The panel members stated that the overall purpose of most Federated clubs was twofold, adult education and community service.

The club members were also told of the many services available to club members through their Federation.

Mrs. Jackson presided for the business session during which Mrs.

Air Force Academy Attracts Tourists

By LEONARD J. SNYDER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — Although the permanent site of the U. S. Air Force Academy won't be ready for occupancy until September, 1958, tourists now may drive through the 17,000-acre picturesque academy site along a newly-opened, winding road within the shadow of famous Pikes Peak.

The road is patterned after the visitor's road at the U. S. Military academy at West Point, N. Y., and will become a permanent feature of the completed $126 million service school just north of Colorado Springs.

The tourist road enables taxpayers to take their first close look at progress in construction of the academy. A tour of the site takes about an hour and, from a distance of about a mile from the academic area, visitors can watch workmen teaming about the service school.

According to construction officials, bad weather during April and May threw work crews behind schedule. As a result, many of the contractors have been working overtime, including Sundays, double shifts and 10-hour work days, to meet the building schedule.

CONSTRUCTION engineers continue to push development of the stainless steel, marble and glass five-story classroom building and the six-story, 1,330-foot-long residence quarters where some 1,200 of the nation's top-flight young men will eventually train and live. Meanwhile, Lowry Air Force Base near Denver is serving as the academy's temporary home.

When the Air Force academy is opened to the first Air Force officer trainees at the Colorado Springs site, the dream of such pioneer airmen as the late William (Billy) Mitchell and Gen. Henry H. (Hap) Arnold will have become a reality.

In 1949 the late James Forrestal, then secretary of defense, appointed an Air Force Service Academy board to plan the institution which would correspond to the Army's West Point and the Navy's Annapolis academies. The board, a member of which was Charles A. Lindbergh, inspected some 400 proposed sites before finally deciding upon the present one 10 miles north of Colorado Springs.

Their reason for picking this area was because of the vast acreage available for landing fields, parade grounds, and the amenities and facilities necessary to a great university of the air.

Community facilities were also a primary factor. Colorado Springs, with an area population of more than 100,000, already plays host to about a million and a half vacationists a year, many of whom climb to the summit of the 14,110-foot-high Pikes Peak.

Nor will the Air Force cadets lack other places of attraction. Nearby are the famous Cave of the Winds, an underground wonderland at Manitou Springs with a fascinating array of stalactites and stalagmites, the Royal Gorge of the Arkansas river, Will Rogers Shrine of the Sun, Cheyenne mountain with the Broadmoor zoo 6,800 feet up its side, cliff dwellings, Mt. Manitou Incline, Crystal park scenic drive, Rampart Range road and Colorado's petrified forest.

The area is served by a network of excellent highways and by air, rail and bus lines connecting with Denver and the major centers of population. A bus service links Colorado Springs and the academy with Denver and Pueblo.

THE BUSES are designed for the last word in comfort and pleasure. They not only have glass tops for the view, but hostesses (very pleasing on the eye), snack bars and seats which not only recline but adjust sideways to accommodate any hip width.

Because of Colorado's scenic beauty there's little doubt that the new Air Force academy will vie for great numbers of visitors, possibly—and in the opinion of Colorado dwellers — even surpassing those who trek through the historic halls at West Point and Annapolis every year.

Comedy Expert Says Women Lacking in Sense of Humor

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Do women have a sense of humor? Comedy expert Hal Kanter doesn't think so.

Before you start getting indignant, ladies, let me explain Kanter's credentials. He is one of the ace comedy writers in a highly competitive business, having dreamed up sallies for such artists as Bing Crosby, Ed Wynn, Martin and Lewis and George Gobel. Right now he's masterminding the film debut of a new team, Rowan and Martin, in "Once Upon a Horse," which he is producing, directing and writing.

That's who Hal Kanter is. He's also tall, charming and likes the opposite sex. Except on matters of humor.

"Go to a matinee of a comedy hit on Broadway," he suggested. "You'll find the predominantly female audience reacting in mild chuckles. Women simply don't laugh. They're inhibited. The laugh is caught somewhere in their girdles. They're afraid to laugh harder because their lipstick might run or their mascara smear."

"There are few really good comedies compared to the number of comedians. The success of Lucille Ball in television is the exception that proves the rule. But I've never heard anybody say, 'Gee, Lucille was a scream at the Masquer's Club last night when she got up and ad libbed.'"

The average woman never fails to fowl up a funny story when she tries to tell it, he added. Since he is so firm about the female lack of humor, I asked him if he therefore writes his funny stuff primarily for men.

"No," he replied. "I don't write for anyone in particular. I recall what Goodman Ace said. He had heard people say he should 'write comedy for 12-year-olds in Iowa. He remarked that he took a plane out to Des Moines and talked to a lot of 12-year-olds."

"What did he find out? That 12-year-olds in Iowa knew a lot more and were aware of more than was going on than most 40-year-olds on Madison Avenue."

Only 1 Rap Remains in Schrunk Case

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Mayor Terry Schrunk was cleared by the state Thursday of all but one charge in the Portland vice investigation.

A charge that the mayor, when sheriff last year, copied wiretap recordings was dismissed in State Circuit Court after Asst. Atty. Gen. Arthur Higgs said the facts in the indictment did not constitute a crime.

The recordings had been seized by the sheriff's men in a raid, and later were used as evidence as gambler Big Jim Elkins and his employee, Raymond Clark, were convicted in federal court in wiretapping.

Schrunk earlier was acquitted of a charge that he lied when he denied taking a bribe from a gambler.

The only charge remaining against him is one of subornation of perjury, in which he is accused of trying to get two women to lie about Elkins' character.

Baruch, Faithful Secretary

HE WROTE THE LORD'S WORDS AS JEREMIAH DICTATED

Scripture—Jeremiah 36

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
JEREMIAH, the greatest man in Judah during the time of our lesson, was now an old man, but still young in spirit and intellect, and full of courage. For at least 60 years he had been prophesying to his people, warning them about the destruction of their cities and their own captivity if they continued to disobey the Lord and live in evil.

Jehoiakim, second son of the good Josiah, was king of Judah and the last king to reign in the city of Jerusalem. "When his reign ended, in 598 B. C., the Babylonian forces were entering the confines of Judah for an invasion that would terminate in the destruction of Jerusalem," the words of Dr. Wilbur M. Smith's Peloubet's Notes. In the fourth year of Jehoiakim's reign, the word of the Lord came to the prophet Jeremiah commanding him to take "a roll of a book" a papyrus or parchment scroll, and write on it all the words He had spoken princes were there, and to them all Michaiah told the words he had heard read, and the princes sent Jehudi to Baruch, telling him to bring the scroll to them.

When Baruch came they told him to sit down and read it, and he did so, and when they heard the words of the Lord they were afraid and said they must tell the king. They asked him how he wrote all the words of the Lord, and Baruch said that Jeremiah told him the words and he wrote as the prophet dictated.

Then the princes said to Baruch, "Go, hide thee, thou and Jeremiah; and let no man know where ye be." But they laid the roll in the chamber of Elishama, the scribe, and went and told the king.

The king sent Jehudi to fetch the roll and he read it to the king. It was wintertime, and there was a fire burning on the hearth before the king. When Jehudi had read a few pages the king cut the roll with his pen-knife and threw it into the fire, against Judah and Israel.

"Whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord."—Colossians 3:23.

"It may be that the house of Judah will hear all the evil which I purpose to do unto them; that they may return every man from his evil way; that I may forgive their iniquity and their sin." Jeremiah called Baruch the scribe, and dictated to him as the Lord had commanded him, and Baruch wrote as Jeremiah spoke the words. Then Jeremiah said: "I am shut up: I cannot go into the house of the Lord; therefore go thou, and read in the roll which thou hast written."

We are not told why Jeremiah could not go into the temple. Possibly he was confined to his abode in what we call today, "protective custody." When, in the fifth year of this king's reign, a fast was proclaimed, and all the people of Jerusalem and many from other cities of Judah who came to the Jerusalem, Baruch read the book to them in the house of the Lord, as Jeremiah had commanded.

When Michaiah, the grandson of Shaphan, heard the words, he went to the king's house, into the scribe's chamber, and all the used on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., and used by permission.

Cockeyed Clock Slated for Ike

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—An odd present is in store for President Eisenhower.

Maurice Tremblay, a toolmaker whose hobby is making what he calls "cockeyed clocks," said Thursday night he will send a clock to the President which runs backwards and has letters instead of numbers.

The letters spell "Mr. Eisenhower," when read backwards of course.

Rev. and Mrs. John Brown returned home Friday from a week's vacation. They meant to stay for a longer vacation, but on Monday their oldest son, who had been left in care of relatives in Cincinnati, was injured badly when he and his cousin were accidentally hit by a truck and both boys were hurt badly and taken to a hospital. By Friday the boys were able to be taken home and young Brown was brought to his home here. Injuries were not as bad as was first thought.

'Spendthrift' Trust Is Voided by Judge

CLEVELAND (AP)—Probate Judge Frank Merrick has ruled that the $150,000 estate of a Shaker Heights woman that was left to her divorced husband was a "spendthrift" trust and could not be paid to him in a lump sum.

The husband, Charles Fortesque Thain, 73, of Lakewood, had asked Judge Merrick to end the trust arrangement which pays him $150 a month. The Corcas Invalid Home which is to receive the bulk of the estate upon Thain's death, also joined in the request.

Thain and the Corcas Society told the judge they recently entered into an agreement by which Thain was to receive $18,500 and the society the remainder.

Mrs. Martha Mabel Thain, who died Jan. 14, 1953, left the estate.

Ohio Bell, Union Still Talk Contract

CLEVELAND (AP)—Negotiations on a new contract continued Thursday night between the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. and the Communications Workers of America. There was no report on the progress of the talks.

The old contract, covering 18,600 Ohio Bell employees in 19 cities and 26 smaller communities, expires at midnight Saturday night. A strike will be called at 6 a. m. Monday if no progress is made in negotiations, according to Martin L. Hughes, Ohio CWA director.

The company has proposed a one-year contract providing wage increases from $1.50 to $4 a week. Telephone operators, clerical and dining service employees in larger cities like Cleveland, Akron, Columbus, Dayton, Toledo and Youngstown would receive a $2 across-the-board wage increase. In smaller cities like Zanesville, East Liverpool, Lancaster, Ironton and Marietta, the increase would average $1.50.

Plant employees would receive increases of from $2.50 to $4 in large cities and from $2 to $3.50 in the smaller communities.

The union said substantial improvement would have to be made before the contract would be acceptable.

Will Braves' Mound Staff Collapse Again?

Milwaukee Pitchers Complete Only 6 of Last 22 Contests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Can another pitching collapse again detour Milwaukee's steam-roller off Pennant Drive into Nightmare Alley?

Remember 1955? The Braves took the lead in July behind right-handers Lew Burdette and Bob Buhl and southpaw Warren Spahn. But after Labor Day, when Milwaukee ran its winning streak to six for a 3½-game lead, Buhl won only two games and Burdette one. The pair pitched only one complete game between them.

The Braves lost 12 of 23 and Brooklyn took the flag by a game. So what? So the St. Louis Cardinals put the rap on Milwaukee 10-1 Thursday night, sweeping a two-game set and trimming the Braves' lead to 6½ games — with Burdette failing to go the distance for the fourth consecutive time.

With Buhl sidelined at least until this weekend with a sore shoulder, and Gene Conley (an added starter this year) stopped winless in six straight starts, the Braves' staff has managed only six complete games in the last 22.

While St. Louis brought the fight to the Braves, third place Brooklyn stayed alive with a 3-1 victory at Philadelphia. The Dodgers trail by eight.

In the American League, the New York Yankees rallied and beat Boston 5-2, reclaiming a ½-game spread over idle Chicago.

Chuck Stobbs blanked Baltimore on three hits for a 3-0 Washington victory in the only other AL game scheduled.

Brooklyn handed Robin Roberts his 19th defeat — the most he ever has lost at Philadelphia; and the Pittsburgh Pirates trimmed the New York Giants again, 4-2.

The Cincinnati Redlegs defeated the Cubs 4-1.

The Cardinals, faced with an almost impossible task in pursuit of the Braves with only 21 games remaining, breezed in behind the four-hit pitching of Sam Jones. The big righthander fanned six and walked only one while winning his 11th.

The Red Birds, who came from 8½ games behind once before this season, but needed 27 games to do it, got rolling with three in the fifth that chased Burdette to an eighth defeat.

The Dodgers tagged Roberts early on RBI doubles by Rube Walker and Carl Furillo while Carl Erskine, the 30-year-old righthander no one wanted when he was put on the waiver list, set down the Phils on one hit for seven frames in his first start since July 21.

Relief pitcher Bob Grim, of all people, got the job done for the Yankees, swatting a three-run homer in the ninth — his second in the majors and his first hit in eight at bats this year. Willard Nixon, blanking the champs on three hits until he walked three and gave up Gil McDougal's two-out, 3-2 pitch single for a 2-2 tie in the eighth, lost his 10th.

The Yankees, winning only eight of their last 18, started Bob Turley. He went eight, giving up Jackie Jensen's two-run 18th homer in the fourth.

The bat race was unchanged. Mickey Mantle (.369) walked ahead of McDougal's single in a pinch-role, Boston's Ted Williams (.376) still is out with a cold.

Stobbs, a southpaw who has lost 18, had a one-hitter until the ninth while winning his eighth. Roy Sievers took the homer lead with his 35th, with one on in the third. Stobbs doubled home a run in the ninth to beat Ray Moore.

Don Hoak's two-run double in the second and Frank Robinson's 24th home run in the third gave Brooks Lawrence all he needed for his 14th victory.

Rookie Whammy Douglas won his third for the Pirates, needing Roy Face's relief for the last out.

Red Scheondienst Credited With Giving Fire to Braves

Editor's Note: This is another in a series of articles about the Milwaukee Braves, seen representing the National League in the 1957 World Series.

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Ask almost any Milwaukee player to single out the one Brave who has been most responsible for bringing them within sight of the promised land and he'll say without hesitation—Red Scheondienst.

Not only the fans but the Milwaukee players are in love with Scheondienst. Most of them had never played with anyone like him before. Milwaukee never had a second baseman who could make the plays he makes. It never had a player who gave so much of himself to win. His contribution is not limited to his magnificent all-around play.

It is no mere coincidence — as the modest redhead wishes you to believe—that the Braves' climb began almost immediately after the three-for-one trade that

Stengel Mumbling About His Yankees

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees are still "hesitating, hurtin' and not hittin'," in the words of manager Casey Stengel although they hold a 5 game margin over the Chicago White Sox.

The grizzled Yankee pilot admitted the Yankees were far from being out of the woods despite Thursday's dramatic 5-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox. They had lost five of their previous seven games and 10 out of 17.

"We're still not gettin' the pitchin' and we're still not gettin' the hittin'," Casey said. "We're puttin' plenty of men on base but we're not drivin' them in."

Cleveland Purchases Pacific Coast Hurler

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians have purchased pitcher Robert Alexander from Portland of the Pacific Coast League. He is expected to report to the Tribe today or Saturday in Detroit.

The 33-year-old, 6-foot-3 righthander has a 14-13 record with eighth-place Portland this season.

The squirrel season in the 32-county southern zone Sept. 2. It marked a 27 per cent increase over the number checked last year. Dry, windy conditions in southern Ohio kept hunter success below average.

Fowler 'Disgraced' By Redleg Dismissal

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pitcher Art Fowler says he has been "disgraced" by being released by the Cincinnati Redlegs and that he intends to quit baseball.

Fowler, a 34-year-old righthander, was released Wednesday by the Redlegs to Seattle of the Pacific Coast League after being waived out of the National League.

Fowler told newsmen, "You know how bad the team's pitching staff is and I know that I am better than some still on it."

Hoak's Hitting Gives Redlegs Scoring Lift

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Don Hoak, booted out of Chicago by Cubs fans who thought he was a weak-hitting third baseman, has hammered his way into the front rank of Cincinnati Redleg hitters.

Manager Birdie Tebbetts says Hoak and his bat have earned the job with performances like Thursday's two-run double that helped whip his old Cub teammates, 4-1.

Hoak has also become one of the Reds' most fiery competitors on the field, sometimes to the point where he is ejected from the game.

But it is his .293 average and 75 runs batted in that have given the Reds a scoring lift this year and made the 29-year-old third-sacker look like the comeback player of the year.

Tebbetts says: "We knew he was fast, a good fielder, a good thrower and a hustler, but no guy in the world would have said he would hit 20 home runs in a season."

Hoak hasn't hit the 20 yet; he had a recent slump along with the rest of the team. But it looks like he is getting his eye back.

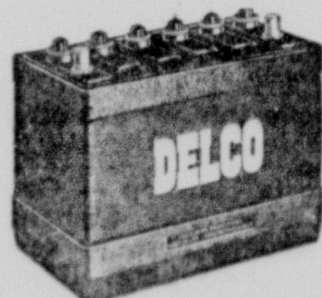

The home run Thursday was from the bat of Frankie Robinson, the Reds' best hitter at .320 and 24 four-bag blows.

Hoak's runs — producing double came in the second inning after Ed Bailey and Wally Post rapped out singles and pulled off a rare double-steal.

Robinson's homer made it 3-0 in the third inning. The Reds went on to add an insurance marker in the ninth on two walks around Bailey's double and a sacrifice fly pinch-hit by Smokey Burgess.

Brooks Lawrence, who went all the way for the Reds, had a shut-out cooking until the fifth inning.

Ohio Fishing Prospects Reported Good

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—No matter how you like to fish — troll, still, cast or fly—this looks like a good weekend for it.

Ohio's Division of Wildlife, in its weekly report, said today all of the state's lakes, ponds and streams are clear and normal.

The weekend outlook is top-notch. In the Sandusky Bay and island area of Lake Erie, the division reported, white bass are being taken at the Bay Bridge, pickerel are plentiful over West and Innis Reefs around Kelley's Island, perch are being caught at the Fog Horn and the entrance to Sandusky Bay, and white bass, smallmouth bass and perch are taking still bait around Starve, Bass and Rattlesnake islands.

Elsewhere the better lakes this week have been Oxbow, Chippewa, Burr Oak, Buckeye and Grant — all yielding largemouth bass, bluegills and catfish.

Streams to try during the next few days, the division advises, include Wills Creek, Shade River, Muskingum River, Symmes Creek in Lawrence County, Scioto River, Brush Creek and Mad River.

Smallmouth bass, channel catfish and carp are the main species being taken from the streams — with the exception of Mad River where fair catches of trout are reported.

Charlie Goldman is the first boxing second to keep his equipment for facial cuts in a little bag strapped to his belt.

All-Aussie Finale Seen in U.S. Tourney

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP)—Even with Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall laboring for the professionals, the possibility of an all-Australian final for the National Tennis Championship became a distinct possibility today.

Ashley Cooper already is in the semifinal, the result of a whirlwind 6-3, 6-3, 6-1 victory over Budge Patty Thursday. Mal Anderson, the 22-year-old surprise of the tournament from Down Under, went against Luis Ayala of Chile today in a bid for another Aussie semifinal berth.

Cooper will meet the winner of today's other quarter-final which pits Vic Seixas against Herbie Flam.

Anderson's semifinal opponent, if he gets past Ayala, will be Sven Davidson of Sweden, who made Thursday a glum one for the United States by whipping Cliff Mayne, an Army lieutenant from Fort Monmouth, N. J.

The semifinals of the women's division also will be filled today when top-seeded Althea Gibson plays Mrs. Mary Hawton of England and Marlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., goes against Shirley Bloomer, also of England.

Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., seeded No. 2, and Mrs. Dorothy Knodel of Forest Hills, No. 3, each gained their brackets Thursday. Miss Brough crushed 18-year-old Ann Haydon of England, 7-5, 6-1, and Mrs. Knodel polished off Lois Felix of Meriden, Conn., 6-2, 6-1.

Paddy DeMarco and Allie Stolz, two former boxers, have teamed up as a comedy act for night club appearances.

Browns Acquire Haluska in Trade

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP)—The Cleveland Browns got quarterback Jim Haluska from the Chicago Bears Thursday, but Tom O'Connor is still the Browns' No. 1 passer and will start tonight's exhibition game with Los Angeles.

Coach Paul Brown announced he obtained Haluska, former University of Wisconsin star, from the Bears in trade for a draft choice. Haluska, a 23-year-old, 6-foot, 195-pound player, saw little action as a rookie with the Bears.

Shapely Model Causes Huge Sensation by Scooter Tour

By ARTHUR SCHOLLES
Central Press Association
Correspondent

SYDNEY, Australia—Bosomy model Margo Day made modelling history when she cruised from Sydney to Melbourne to publicize a new motor scooter.

She clocked 569 miles on the trip. Petrol for the scooter cost only two dollars.

Until she made the venture, some trip, Margo was known only as a Sydney model with a resemblance to England's TV star, Sabrina.

On the trip to Melbourne, made in the middle of the southern hemisphere winter, Margo had to battle against 40 mph headwinds which ballooned out her plastic yachting jacket.

ALONG THE WAY she posed for shots in all things from underwear to swimsuits.

PASSING CAR passengers reckoned Margo's 40-25-36 figure was a welcome addition to the monotonous green of the Australian bushland.

Miss Day, 19, and her scooter attracted big crowds in all the towns where she stopped. At Yass, halfway along the route, she was welcomed by a crowd of 250, mostly school children.

In Melbourne a crowd of 1,500 greeted her. She was feted for several days and invited to City Hall to meet the mayor, Sir Frank Sileck.

Margo responded by presenting him with an "IOU" pledging 100 hours' free modeling to publicize the city of Melbourne in New South Wales.

Margo, who had traveled through near-zero winter tem-

Riding Horse Sinks In Tallmadge Marsh

AKRON (P)—Police, firemen, civil defense volunteers and a wrecking crew worked four hours to rescue a horse that sank to its belly in a marsh at nearby Tallmadge.

Misses Alice Boorman, 16, and Karen Thissen, 18, were riding the 8-year-old gelding owned by Miss Boorman when it broke through the thick crust covering the marsh. The girls walked to solid ground and summoned aid.

The horse, named Cheyenne, finally was removed from the muck none the worse for its experience except for the need of a bath.

Last Great Land Journey Is Readied

By ARTHUR SCHOLLES
Central Press Association
Correspondent

AUCKLAND, New Zealand—New Zealand's Antarctic team is completing final preparations for its contribution toward the Commonwealth Trans-Antarctic expedition.

The Commonwealth expedition will leave Vahsel Bay on the island toward the South Pole from the Ross sea. The New Zealanders will link up with the Commonwealth expedition in the vicinity of the South Pole.

The Commonwealth expedition under Sir Vivian Fuchs has established an advance depot 270 miles inland toward the South Pole from the Weddell sea. The New Zealanders, camped at McMurdo sound, Ross sea, have established a base 300 miles inland toward the South Pole.

Winter parties of three scientists will live in these advanced bases throughout the polar night.

The actual crossing of the Antarctic continent will take about four months, counting delays for scientific observations. The New Zealanders will be led by Sir Edmund Hillary, conqueror of Mt. Everest. His task will be to shepherd Sir Vivian Fuchs' party from the region of the South Pole to the Ross sea.

THE TWO KNIGHTS of exploration hope to meet on New Year's Day, 1958. Sixteen men will make the continental crossing from the Weddell sea to the Ross sea. They will be air-supplied en route and will travel as far as possible in snow vehicles, and will then use dog teams.

The Trans-Antarctic expedition will cost $1 1/2 million. Four commonwealth governments, Britain, New Zealand, Australia and South Africa, have found the necessary funds.

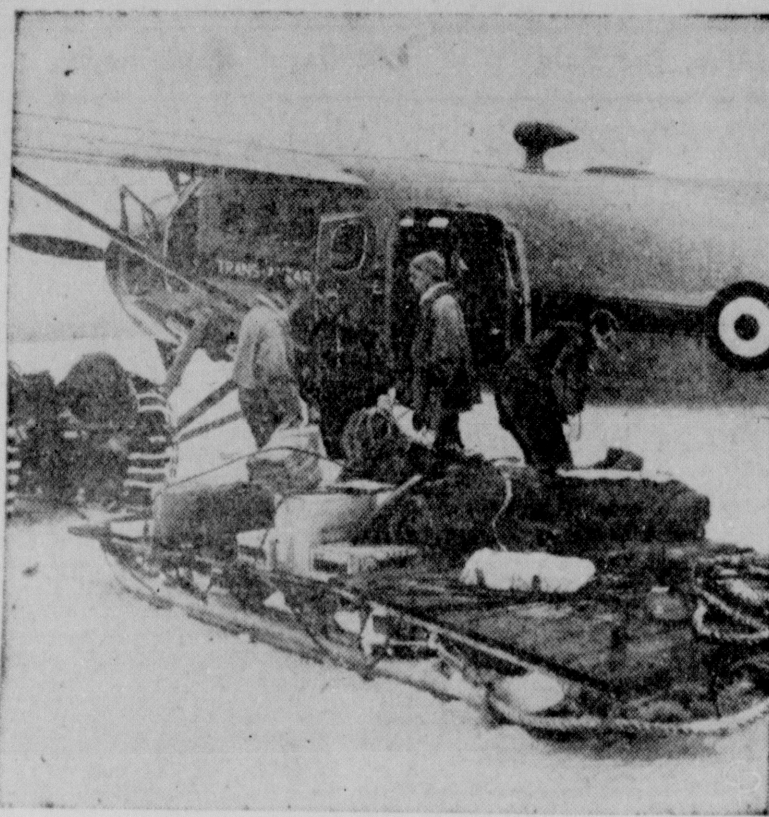

The Commonwealth expedition, if successful, will bring to reality the unfulfilled dreams of Scott, Shackleton, Mawson and other pioneers. These explorers never found out whether the Antarctic continent was one land mass or several joined together by ice.

The whole Trans-Antarctic expedition hopes to be at the New Zealand base at McMurdo sound in March, 1958. The crossing will be man's final triumph over the natural and geographical hazards of the earth.

Antarctic explorers hope man's next venture will be another international effort.

Scientific knowledge gained during the International Geophysical Year might well turn Antarctica into a platform for the future conquest of space.

At Schiphol Airport in Amsterdam, Holland, airline passengers can see ships sailing above them. The airport's runways are 13 feet below sea level along side a canal.

Sale of Some Indian Lake Shore Line Is Recommended

COLUMBUS, Ohio (P)—The Ohio Division of Parks has recommended to the Natural Resources commission the disposal of less than 10 per cent of shore line at Indian Lake in Logan County.

The recommendation is first of a series of six to be made by the division calling for disposition through sale of state-owned property leased to private individuals and which is so closely put up as to preclude public use.

Col. Herbert Eagon, director of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, indicated a resolution might be adopted later authorizing him to name a committee to make a personal investigation of the Indian Lake area.

No action setting up procedure for disposal of the land is expected until the committee submits its report and findings.

Among the various properties recommended by the division for sale are:

Governor's Crystal Bank, Treasure, Turkey Foot, Priest, Artist and Minnewauken.

Eagon said the procedure of the division is set up under the Simpson Act enacted four years ago. This permits the state to dispose of canal feeder lake properties when the people holding leases have built up the properties so as to prevent any public use.

Consequently, Eagon said, the state hopes to avoid the expense of upkeep and maintenance of the properties, such as protective walls and bridges.

Under law, the Natural Resources Commission must first offer the properties to other state agencies, and, if not wanted, sell them either to the persons now leasing them, or the general public at a price not less than 110 per cent of the appraisal value.

Cosmas D. Blubaugh of Danville, Knox County, was named chairman of the commission at its reorganization meeting. He succeeds Milton Ronsheim, publisher of the Cadiz Republican.

Village Aide Curbed In Resignation Try

Parents Shun Closure of 2 Classes

ETNA, Wyo. (P)—When the county school board ordered discontinuance of the seventh and eighth grades at the Etna Elementary School, thus making it necessary for the 20 students to travel 35 miles or so to class, the parents rebelled.

They protested last year, too, and the board at Afton, the county seat of western Wyoming's Star Valley, provided a teacher. But not this year.

So the parents got their own instructor. He is doing it free. They borrowed books from schools across the border in Irwin, Idaho.

Farmer Dean Humphreys, a spokesman for the parents, says the school was set up in the local ward chapel of the Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) Church here Wednesday in protest to the board action pending a court ruling on a legal protest.

Humphreys said it was too much to expect the students to travel that distance "in this deep snow, cold weather country."

U.S. Eases Travel Ban in Bulgaria

WASHINGTON (P)—The United States has eased its ban on travel to Communist Bulgaria.

The State Department said it is now ready to allow Americans to make "visits of limited duration" to Bulgaria if they have "professional or other legitimate reasons for travel."

These visits, however, "must be in the national interest," the announcement said.

As part of its new policy, the State Department said it has validated the passports of eight Americans who want to go to Sofia Sept. 20 to attend the meeting of the International Olympic Committee in the Bulgarian capital.

Columbiana County board of elections refused to allow Harding to withdraw from the November elections as the unopposed Republican nominee for the treasurer's post. The deadline for withdrawal was Aug. 16.

THE FIRST of the "Miss America" contestants to arrive at Atlantic City, N. J., frolic in the surf. They are (from left) "Miss Hawaii" Sandra Forsythe of Honolulu; "Miss California" Lorna M. Anderson of Sacramento, and "Miss Michigan" Valerie Joy Strong of Williamsburg. (International Soundphoto)
